Click the "Go to here" button and a window opens where you can enter your code, in order to activate your license. Taking responsibility With the purchase of a license you can activate the program, and to activate the program you must first enter a code that you receive after ordering the license, in the window that opens after you enter your code. Before you can enter the code in the activation window, you must take responsibility for entering the license that you've purchased.

Entering your activation code If you did not purchase an auto license for this program, you can click the following links to activate it: Activation of a copy of the program You can activate your copy of the program if you did not purchase a license for the program. In this window you can enter your activation code that you received after ordering the program (this code is not the same code as the one you entered in the 'License activation' window). Click the 'Go to here' button and a window opens where you can enter your code, in order to activate the program.

Want to know what games are getting the biggest cross-platform boost? Look no further than the list above. Ubisoft's Watch Dogs, for example, was released for Xbox 360 and PlayStation 3 and is now headed for PC. But that's not all - it's also coming to the Xbox One, with a PC-only release to follow on day one of the console's arrival. Games like The Saboteur are hitting PS4 and Xbox One simultaneously, with cross-play for PC, PlayStation 3 and Xbox 360 coming alongside. But perhaps it's the relatively obscure titles that are getting the biggest boost, like All Stars Baseball and Entwined. The move is part of a broader trend, where Ubisoft has previously focused on releasing its games on PS3 and Xbox 360 first, then PC. Don't worry though, we'll bring you the news of the day as it happens.

Q: Cannot convert method group 'ObjectID' into parametered type Object I am trying to implement the methods 'delete()' and 'get()' on my 'Song' class but I keep getting the following error, Cannot convert method group 'ObjectID' into paramet
