Language: English.Q: Using a table name in an UPDATE statement in SQL Server I have the following UPDATE statement: UPDATE MyTable SET Version = @Version WHERE Product = 'x' In an earlier statement I created a table with the same name. In this case, is it possible to use MyTable as a table name in this UPDATE statement? EDIT: The table I created with the same name is not for a particular update statement, but I just want to know if I could use the table name in an UPDATE statement. A: Yes, you can use a table name inside an update statement.
