My question: How to get all that values from one column? My table looks as follows: Subjects Subtitle Music Sound Library 2.1 EX for Music Composers Music Good Sound for Music Composers Math Python for Python Programming A: You can use LIKE clause: SELECT * FROM YOUR_TABLE WHERE SUBTITLE LIKE '%your_search_term%' If you want to return all the rows from the table that match the search term then add a WHERE clause with a statement like: SELECT * FROM YOUR_TABLE WHERE SUBTITLE LIKE '%your_search_term%' AND SUBTITLE LIKE '%your_search_term%' AND SUBTITLE LIKE '%your_search_term%' 23 years since the start of investigations into the disappearance

And it was. That was the goal of its creator, Michael Dante DiMartino. "The goal was to set the show in a time when the entire Earth was in the grip of some form of cultural or technological revolution," DiMartino told me in an email exchange. "We wanted to set the story in an interesting period in Earth's future—if there was a future, as the air would be gone and we'd be living in a terraformed version of Earth, a desert where the Last Airbender is fighting in the sand. I think that's a more interesting setting, and it's a difficult one to pull off believably, so we failed." While Avatar: The Last Airbender did explore a few key points about technology and culture that DiMartino and his contemporaries were touching upon, its depiction of a world where humans exist on a completely artificial, high-tech alternate Earth was particularly out of step with the social norms of the 1980s. Children's cartoons often toyed with futuristic ideas, but rarely with such a dark vision. For example, ThunderCats and Voltron were not only optimistic about what technology could be, they were also, well, optimistic. The world of Avatar was a lot more grim and foreboding. DiMartino also had ba244e880a
