

A: The issue is that the only columns that you have in the data set (group by) are "id" and "trackno". When you group by "id" the first column is ignored. You would have to specify all your columns. This would be the easiest way to get the desired result. The other alternative would be to create a list of unique identifiers to use as a group by. You could do something like this: `unique_ids = dataframe.groupby('id').groups.keys()` `print(unique_ids)`
Which would result in ['A', 'A', 'A', 'B', 'C', 'D', 'E', 'F', 'G', 'H', 'T'] : superoxide dismutase YH : *Yersinia pseudotuberculosis* YL : *Yersinia enterocolitica* We are grateful to all the members of our laboratories for their collaboration and advice. We also thank Bernhard Ladner for making the LOV domain plasmids available and the National BioResource Project-Institute for Functional Genomics for providing us the GFP-tagged P4-4 strains.
