Scattered amongst them are three characters: a pregnant woman, a middle-aged man and a young man in his early twenties. They are friends, apparently, but in reality, they are separated by a deep and never-ending divide. As time passes, the pregnant woman and the middle-aged man are united by a bond of love and suffering. The younger man, however, wants nothing to do with them. He escapes their life, which he describes as "his". He is a convict who has to serve out his time in jail, while the pregnant woman is arrested for kidnapping her lover, the middle-aged man, as she will have the baby 'out of wedlock'. The young man, the "inheritor of a dead mother and a missing father", holds a childhood memory of the death of his father, for which he is punished by his aunt, a relentless woman. While he bears all the insults from his mother, who is unable to come to terms with her ex-husband's death, the mother in the pregnant woman starts to hate her. She feels that the woman she loves is somehow responsible for the death of her beloved. The young man, constantly fascinated by the pregnant woman's secret, dedicates his life to her. Will he be able to set her free? Or will his own life end with the death of the pregnant woman? Aksharathalukal Malayalam Detective Novels & Short Story JAMMAAD PULSYAN The Day-Maid 'Relief' Flocked the Police Station The day-maid did not leave the police station on the day it was declared a holiday for the first time in the memory of the police.
