What's New in the?

Sing & See, is a professional and user-friendly vocal trainer, allowing the voice to be visually assessed, providing feedback and encouraging positive practice. When we started this project, we have been looking for a digital tool that could help improve a teacher's experience and to give an objective assessment of a student's skills to all those who use it. A quick and easy assessment of the voice using the closest and best tool to the music teacher's ear, giving a clear assessment of the student's voice. The performance of a student can be viewed in real time, showing the notes interpreted on a musical scale with the location of mistakes. The programme comes with various versions for students and teachers. The teacher and the students can all benefit from the various editions: a teacher edition; a version for high school students; a version for private music trainers and even one for aspiring singers. Vocals are sorted by gender and can be displayed on a piano keyboard. The software also comes with multiple editions for each of them. Teachers can also record their lesson, the performance that is actually in progress. Visualize your voice in real-time and assess your technique visually - Many teachers are unable to accurately assess their students voice due to the lack of a proper visual tool - When a student performs, she may only interpret what she hears in the ears - Sing & See gives her the ability to see where she's making mistakes and making improvements. Some benefits of Sing & See - Teachers will be able to give a precise and accurate assessment of a student's voice - They will be capable of delivering an informed feedback - They will be able to encourage the students to learn in a constructive way.
