ItaÁ©na Assis - 2009 [PCDVD] HTML .Floorball Floorball is a version of American football played on a hardball-size indoor floor. It combines many of the rules of American football, including the rulebook used by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) but has only three downs to a game, up from four. In addition, the American football field is reduced to 40 yards from a 60-yard by 60-yard area, while the field goal is only 30 yards from a 40-yard line. There are no end zones or kickoffs, there is a goal line at the 25 yard line and 10 yard line and there is no extra point kick. The half is divided into quarters of 20-minutes. Like the modern game of American football, the game is played with eleven players on the field at a time. Floorball is played in many halls and gymnasiums around the world by college, university and school teams during the winter and spring semesters and in summer months. The home team takes possession of the ball in the centre of the floor and defense begins its play by attempting to control the ball or bounce it off the floor. The other team attempts to score by kicking or running the ball into their opponent's end zone or the goal line to score. Rules Offense The ball is placed by a kicker who kicks the ball into the playing area. The ball is under control of the kicker and cannot be touched until the ball is in play, except when the ball is first placed on the floor. A kicker must try to kick the ball into the end zone or goal line. A player who carries the ball gains four yards after a first down. A quarterback must run under the center and hand off or pass to his receiver. A receiver must stay behind the line, except after the play of a pass and then on his next forward pass of more than five yards. A linebacker who chases a grounded or downed offensive player is declared out of bounds and must be within five yards of the play
