Create a collection of images that automatically become a slideshow. Create a slideshow with different effects and play automatically or on demand. Import, edit, and resize pictures as needed. Complete a simple set of 30 commands: for example, rotate and distort an image. Add text and effects, such as shadows and reflections. Add multiple images in a selection. You can then choose the format or size of the image to send it to a social media site or to a scanner. The rest of the main features of Photoshop Elements are: New! Quick Edit! Quick Edit is a set of filters that allow you to change the appearance of an image while preserving its quality. Now you can edit images with a simple twist and without having to use multiple layers, masks, or the paintbrush tool. You can even add a retro twist to images by selecting your filters and choosing the Retrolook or Vintage Vibe options. Copy, delete, and duplicate objects, including groups, layers, and selections. Clone images using the Clone Stamp tool. Once you have changed your image, you can save it in a variety of formats, including JPEG, BMP, GIF, and PNG. You can also share your image directly to social media sites such as Facebook, Tumblr, or Pinterest. New! Fill and Stroke The Fill and Stroke feature allows you to add a flat color to your image. ### What's New in the?

1. Field of the Invention The invention concerns a system for heating a surface of a product to be expanded in the form of granules or spheres or the like such as dough or the like. 2. Description of the Prior Art Within this specification, a "granular product" is understood to mean a dried product in the form of granules or spheres. Systems are known for the production of such a granular product, for example, the product will be pretreated by heating in a heating chamber to a temperature of between 80.degree. and 200.degree. C. in order to ensure a sufficient heat release by evaporation in order to homogenise the surface layer of the product and to activate it. Such a treatment is necessary, among other things, for the production of the baking products known as "dough". Such pretreatment will prepare the surface to receive the moisture during the subsequent baking. It may also be necessary to provide for the treatment of products in the form of granules or spheres in order to prevent the cohesion of the granules of the product. These systems provide for the heating of the product over its entire surface. According to a second method, the treatment of the granular product may be carried out by spraying a heating fluid onto the surface of the product. This heating treatment which is limited to a very small area is not entirely satisfactory because it generates heat beyond the actual working zone and causes an uneven heating of the surface of the product. Such uneven heating is particularly disadvantageous in the case of the baking of products which require a certain specific surface. A particular difficulty in baking granular products is also that some of the granular product may stick to the walls of the heating chamber. German Patent Specification No. 2,534,675 describes a system for the treatment of granules in which the granules are introduced in powder form into a closed system in which they are continuously treated with hot or moist air. The heated air circulates in order to heat the treated granules and to spray this hot air onto the surface of the granules to be treated. Such a known system has a considerable constructional outlay and is suitable only for a limited field of application. Our country was built upon a system of laws that comes from Judeo-Christian values. Our Founding Fathers lived under those values and wrote the Constitution to protect our rights. I personally believe we are the first country in the history of the world to commit to protecting the rights
